Packing suitcase

One begins to pack his suitcase, saying:

I pack my suitcase and take a hat with me.

The next one continues and says:

I pack my suitcase and take a hat and a scarf with me.

Again the next one continues and says:

I pack my suitcase and take a hat, a scarf and a jacket with me.

This continues as long as one of the player forgets one object to enumerate.

Then the game is over and the other one has won.

Battleships

Each player is hiding his ships by means of crosses on his own playing field. The opponent must now try to find out the correct coordinates in order to sink the ship. The ship is quite taken if all the individual coordinates are mentioned.

To keep a better overview each player records his crosses even when he has not taken the respective ship so that these coordinates could not be mentioned twice. The players play alternately. The aim is to sink all the ships of the opponent.
